

Day-one frozen pay scale

Progressing pay scale

Discussions Continue

The past few days of discussions have primarily revolved around the day one pay inequity.

- In principle both the union and company agree the issue exists.
- Both the union and company agree that it needs to be resolved.

The task at hand is a mutually agreed upon equitable solution. Your negotiation committee is up for the task at hand. We are working hard to identify and remedy the inequities. We feel confident the company is committed to do the same.

Other issues identified by the members are also being addressed. The committee will share as much information as possible, when possible.

Thank you for your continued support.
